⊟ : Dropdown box
usually holds all menu options
Front page is usually suggested articles, or possible new ones, based on the user's library of clothing.

When clicking "Add New Clothing"
Clicking this feature will suggest featured items or search specific items

"Remove Clothing" is picked
Goes to your existing clothes catalog and remove ones you want

"Find New Clothing"
Starts bring you back to the home page

[It is a clicker]

If ⊟ is clicked, a menu will slide from the left and present the user with options. Clicking ⊟ again will remove the sidebar. Some features shown above would be presented, the suggested item a placeholder for potential new features I could not think of as of sketching this.
